KKE to Establish Singapore Subsidiary

Kozo Keikaku Engineering Inc. (Head Office: Nakano-ku, Tokyo, President: Shota Hattori, “KKE” hereinafter) announced today that it has established a subsidiary in Singapore called KKE SINGAPORE PTE. LTD. (“KKE SINGAPORE” hereinafter).

■ Why Singapore?

Founded as a structural design firm in 1956, KKE has expanded its objects of analysis from buildings to the surrounding natural environment (earthquakes, tsunamis, wind, etc.), society, business, and communities. As a professional design and engineering company that bridges the academic and industrial worlds, KKE strives to solve the various issues and challenges that society faces, utilizing its engineering expertise acquired through knowledge exchanges in diverse fields. KKE thus contributes to designing a better society and systems for the next generation.

KKE has developed its global business by introducing software products and services provided by domestic and 20 international partners mainly to the Japanese market. However, KKE is providing engineering consulting services more frequently than before in Singapore, where many Japanese companies have overseas offices. It is presumed that such demands will further increase in this region.

■ The Role of KKE SINGAPORE

KKE SINGAPORE has been established as a base of marketing research activities to explore the needs and the future visions of engineering consulting services in rapidly growing ASEAN countries, including Singapore.

Through KKE SINGAPORE, KKE intends to proactively disseminate the engineering expertise it has developed in Japan to ASEAN countries, and further strive to design and support better societies and systems for the next generation.
